Exposed sliding door style

With the change of people's aesthetics, the structure of doors and windows is not limited to the traditional decoration mode. The combination of glass and iron frame is the first choice for modern and simple style. Transparent and bright glass, combined with highly textured metal, not only expands the sense of space in the room, but also increases the sense of visual hierarchy.

This iron frame
glass door reflects
the style of industrial and natural spirit of log style , with Scandinavian style.

The iron frame door is made of high-quality hardware, which is firm and wear-resistant. Different door types can be matched with different pulley styles.

Concealed sliding door style

This crisscross black iron frame glass door reinterprets the old-fashioned iron door with modern and simple lines, allowing the interior space to remain transparent, as well as a sense of hierarchy and progress. Besides the black finish for the metal, other finish would be available.

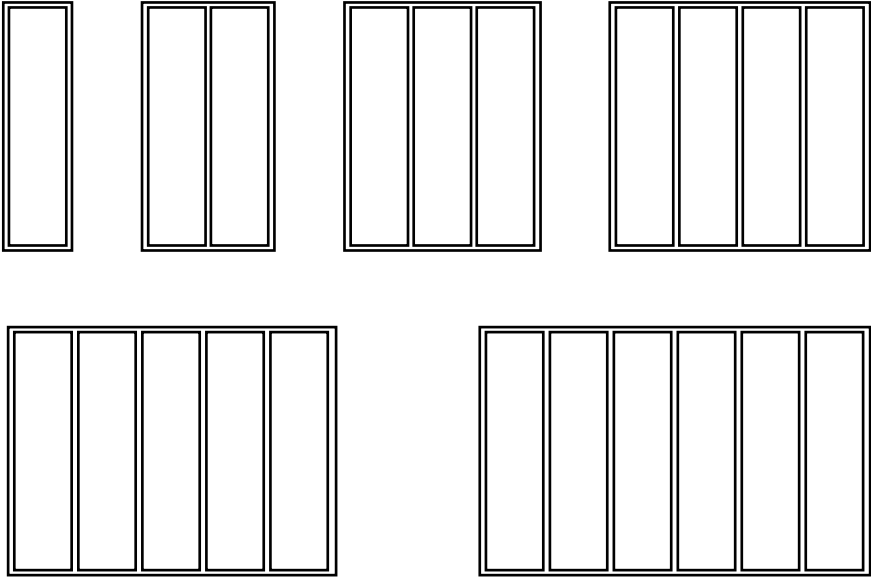

FIXED WINDOW

The number of iron frame windows can be combined and matched according to the size of the wall.
